Tue arguments which are advanced by our correspondent "X. Y. Z.," with regard to the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank meeting, are deserving of some notice, and in fairness to the Chairman and Directors are given the same prominence as those on the other side. The objection that has been felt in some quarters to the reply which was given, is not that the Directors were not justified in using | Whart. discretion as to what particulars should be made public, but rather that on this special occasion the discretion, undoubtedly in their ! -power, was not exerted to the best advantage. bouse against their will. It must be obvious to anyone that the argument that asking a question of the kind is indicative of a want of confidence would, if accepted, preclude Shareholders from asking for any information which the Direc- enquiry might be instituted with regard to his tors might not think it convenient to give: and, in fact, would be equivalent to asserting that the Directors of a Company are the sole arbiters of such a question. This is not the case. They have full powers of discretion, and actting fire to his puggive, which combut are of course expected to use that dis philippet averred was worth three rupmer for cretion reasonably. The way therefore to meet a question such as that asked is, either to reply to it, or to show that refraining from doing so is a reasonable act; but to declare the least, taking rather higher grounds than for $1. Defendant, who admitted having taken the subject, we think that raised a little more. feeling in the matter than would, under ordihary circumstances, be the case. While fully be restired to its owner apon payment of sum empowered to enact laws generally, subject to Henry's evidence before the Select Committee admitting that there are arguments on both sides, we incline to the belief that something more definite might have been stated, though it is quite possible there may be many valid reasons for refraining from giving all the particulars relating to such a point. However this may be, it is satisfactory to find that the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank, which is par excellence the local institution of the place, is doing well, and that there is every reason to congratulate the Shareholders on its continued prosperity.

With these few remarks the subject may be dismissed, but a few words are desirable suggested by our correspondent "X. Y.Z." A great deal of inconvenience at public meet- furniture. ings might be obvinted by the simple plan of making it necessary to give notice of any questions which it is proposed to ask. By this means opportunity is given to all conecrned to shape their enquiries in a way that will be "in order," while time is also given for the preparation of the necessary, replies. Had this plan been adopted in the instance. which has called forth these remarks, the likelihood is that no difference of opinion would have arisen; and if the discussion which has arisen result in the adoption of the day's Police;

some more suitable form of procedure with regard to public meetings generally, it wil not have been without its useful results.

BEFORE THE HOR. CRIED JUSTICE SMALE. The Nouvelle Penelops case was again before the Chief-Justice (who sat in the Ouurt-room) on Saturday and yesterday. The argument of the Attorney General on Mr. Francia's seven points began on Saturday morning. The Attorney General said that before ad dressing his Lordship on the immediate matte in hand, he wished to take this opportunity of correcting a statement in a newspaper in which he had been reported to say that he dustined to argue with a solicitor. His Lordsbip said he had not understood anyhing of the kind

The Attorney General was glad to hear that his Lordship took that view. The learned gontleman was understood on this occasion to say that what be meant was that it was unncochoury that he should do so, us the Crown Solicitor would be present to take notes of the arguments advanced. He wished to make this explanation as the expression attributed to him might be offensive to Mr. Francis.

His Lordship.-Well, it is not before me, as I did not bear the original, at least in that sense. The Attorney General then addressed himself to the argument of the prisoner's advocate, taking Mr. Francis's points in order, Pourth Point.-That the offence was, anything, piracy on the high seas, and not within the trenty, being justiciable here.-Now the offence for which the prisoner stood committed was murder, as appeared by the warrant of committal, which might be amended if it was wrong. Murder was totally distinct from piracy though often involved in it. This point gave rise to three considerations which he would take in order, (a), (b), (c). (a) Is the crime charged piracy jure gentium, and cognisable by the Hongkong Courts? He would refer presently to Turnan's case, but first he would eite an opinion of the law-officera of the Crown on a Hongkong case, as given in-Forsyth's Constitutional Law, If that opinion was now law it would conclude this point. The case in question was similar to the present one. and the upinion given was that no British authority could take cognissuce of the case described, and therefore that the Supreme Court could not. Undoubtedly there was Turnan's case to consider. But what the judges beld of the U. S. Trouty, piracy jure gentium could not be demanded. The crime they saids was, if anything, piracy jure gentium They could not bring it under any crime, for which extradition was provided by that treaty, except piricy, and considering it as piracy they could only say that if piracy it wan piracy jure gentium. Thus they did not may that it was piracy at all. This showed how the opinion quoted in Foreyth could be reconoiled to the decision in re Turnan. It was piracy after their discharge. A distinction between Turnan's case and the present one was that in the former the men went on board intending to do what they did, while these men were emigrants under contract. What weighformer case was one of piracy jure gentium, was

n Anglo-Chinese Dictionant, by the Rev. W. LOBSCHEID, published at the Daily Frees Office. Hongkong. OH scope and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chineso bave of late years been comcolled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extense. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the secents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typo-graphy displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the sixe of body, thereby effecting a vast sconomy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have herotofore characterized Chinese publications. The scope of the work is so great, and its utilitarian purposes so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effective with natives who understand nothing but Chi-In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing Ohins, and to the natives themselves it ex lains subjects fully, with which very few in dred of them are perfectly nequamted. T parties resident in England and interested in Ohina it cannot but be invaluable occurionally.
